FULL SERVICE PROVIDER

Our lifecycle at a glance

And this is how we come full circle – as a full service provider, we're at your side to provide advice, carry out implementations, and support you. We keep an eye on everything for you – from consulting and design, to providing our products and implementing our software, through to follow-up support by our service team. Thanks to our high standard of manufacturing, our reliable products set us apart.

Designed in house, our software puts the finishing touch on our services and is the thing that really perfects your flow of goods. What's absolutely essential in the end? A service that you can count on. And this is exactly what we offer you with our broad portfolio. Get in touch today with your very own inquiry. Because custom-made products are not a challenge, they are one of our strengths.

« We quickly realized that only a reliable full-service provider can handle this construction site during operation, in the middle of the city center, and during the peak season. So the responsibility lies in a single hand – without a time-critical clarification of interfaces.

PRODUCTS

Made by Doppelmayr

Once we have come up with the optimal plant layout together with you and planned out the details of the project, we move on to the implementation. Our portfolio ranges from stacker cranes to the entire equipment required for an automated intralogistics system. But what is it that sets our products apart? We are a member of the Doppelmayr Group, so our products such as stacker cranes, Carry, transfer cars, or vertical conveyors comply with ropeway standards.

This is because our subsections are made directly in the workshops of Doppelmayr, the global market leader in ropeway construction. Our customers reap the benefits in two ways: we can concentrate fully on the planning, programming, installation, and commissioning, while production at Doppelmayr gives us complete flexibility when implementing our products.

CONSULTING

We have the plan

Take advantage of our customized turnkey solutions for your individual challenge and let us work out a plan with you. You tell us what you need from your plant, and we plan what the optimal flow of goods will look like – regardless of whether you're dealing with especially sensitive, long, or heavy items.

We always find the perfect solution – from high-bay warehouses for industry-standard transport units through complex material transport systems. We support you from the very beginning and advise you based on our experience, until we can identify the optimal layout for your plant.

« Thanks to the complete solution from LTW, our processes run more smoothly than ever. We have been able to satisfy our space requirements and increase efficiency thanks to the new intralogistics. LTW understood our wishes and formulated a future-proof solution for us, meaning that nothing stands in the way of further growth.

LTW INTRALOGISTICS PROVIDER SOFTWARE

The seamless flow of materials

To ensure that your system runs perfectly, we implement our specially developed software. It's efficient, user-friendly, and customized to the requirements of our customers – perfectly encapsulating the essence of our software, our systems, and our tools. This means we can guarantee a harmonized, optimal, and transparent material flow, with perfectly matched interfaces. We collaborate closely with our customers to make this happen, offering the full range extending from the warehouse management system with comprehensive order picking, to the forklift management system, through material flow control.

The modular design of our software family, LTW LIOS, makes it extremely simple for our customers to adapt our software to their needs. And the best part is that our software is suitable for every industry.

LTW INTRALOGISTICS PROVIDER SERVICE

We're there for you

You can still count on us once your intralogistics system is in place. We have made it our mission not just to hand over the finished system, but also to explain the system to your employees on site, and support them during the startup phase.

In addition to offering individual training packages so your employees can ideally resolve the issue themselves, our digital service platform, LTWcare, assists you with the troubleshooting process. And if all this doesn't fix the problem, you can always contact our field service technicians. Our service also includes other options such as the supply of spare parts and retrofits for your plant. If your intralogistics system is showing its age, our retrofitting team can modernize it so it runs nearly as good as new.
